

Critical Illness Insurance helps protect your savings, so you can focus on your recovery.

Because medical insurance doesn't cover everything.

Health care costs are on the rise. Even with medical insurance, you're still responsible for co-payments, deductibles and other out-of-pocket costs, so a serious illness could really set you back financially.

If you or a family member was diagnosed with a serious illness, could you handle the extra expenses?

Guardian helps protect your savings

- Guardian Critical Illness Insurance supplements your medical plan— no matter what type of other coverage you have
- Guardian pays you cash benefits based on each eligible diagnosis
- The cash benefits are paid directly to you — you decide how to use them

Here's an illustration of how Guardian's Critical Illness Insurance works*

While the plan offered by your employer may differ, here's an example of how Guardian Critical Illness Insurance helped Sue.

- Sue suffers a heart attack and receives $10,000
- Three years later, she has a stroke and receives $10,000

Sue received $20,000 to help offset her out-of-pocket costs and enable her to focus on her recovery.

Condition	Formula	Benefit Payment
Heart attack	100% x $10,000	$10,000
Stroke	100% x $10,000	$10,000
Total Cash Benefit Paid to Sue		$20,000

Critical Illness Insurance with Guardian is easy

- Convenient payroll deduction
- Take the coverage with you if you leave your current employer
- Protects your savings and gives you peace of mind when the unexpected occurs

Are you financially prepared?

- Every minute of every day, an American becomes seriously ill¹
- The average out-of-pocket expenses for a critical illness can be as much as $5,000 a year²
- 63% of Americans with medical insurance used all their savings for out-of-pocket medical costs³
- The out-of-pocket costs to treat a serious illness are the primary cause of personal bankruptcies for Americans — even with medical insurance⁴
