

Moving to Salem

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY GRADUATE STUDENT HOUSING INFO

Welcome to Willamette

As you make your transition to living in Salem, you will find an easy pace of life and a relatively low cost of living. Here you are able to focus your energies on graduate school and benefit from a relaxed and uncomplicated life outside of the classroom.

The character of our city is an interesting blend of influences. Salem is Oregon's capital city and has the state's third-largest population. Yet within a matter of 20 minutes you can go from the downtown shopping area to rolling acres of vineyards west of the Willamette River. Salem is also about an hour's drive from the Cascade Mountains, the Oregon Coast and the city of Portland.

HOW TO LOOK FOR HOUSING

The Newspaper

- The newspaper is your best resource. The Statesman Journal is Salem's daily newspaper. The Sunday edition features the greatest number of rental announcements. Houses, apartments, townhouses and duplexes are listed by category and by geographic area. www.statesmanjournal.com
- The Oregonian is Portland's daily newspaper and it includes rental announcements for Portland and the city's suburban areas. It includes a very limited list of Salem rentals. www.oregonian.com

Property Management Companies

Contacting property management companies that manage rentals is another good way to locate rentals. Here is a partial list. Some charge a fee for their listings.

Campus Bulletin Boards

A few rental announcements are posted on the bulletin boards located in the lower level of the College of Law near the locker area and in the Atkinson Graduate School of Management (AGSM) 1st floor student lounge.

On-Campus Housing

The majority of graduate students secure housing in the Salem community; however, a very limited number of apartments are available on campus in the Haseldorf Apartments and the University Apartments. Both apartment buildings are located one block from the College of Law. Leases are available in June. If interested, contact Residential Services at 503-370-6880 or housing@willamette.edu to be put on the mailing list. Graduate student assignments are made on the basis of space availability with preference going to returning students. Assignments are confirmed in mid July.

Looking for a Roommate

If you are interested in sharing an apartment or house, email the admission offices listed below. We will do our best to put you in contact with other interested students.

DECIDING WHERE TO LIVE

Salem is divided by geographic designations. State Street divides Salem into north and south. The Willamette River divides the city into east and west. While students live throughout Salem, many choose to live in central Salem (the area surrounding Willamette University, the Capitol and downtown) and South Salem. Keizer, which adjoins Salem to the north, is selected by students as well, as is West Salem, west of the Willamette River. Very few graduate students live east of Interstate 5.

Some students commute from Portland and its suburbs including Tigard, Tualatin and Lake Oswego, about 45 minutes north of Salem, as well as Wilsonville and Charbonneau, approximately 30 minutes away. The rents in these suburb communities are more comparable to the higher rents of Portland, but are ideal for those with partners or spouses who work in Portland. The commute south from these locations is pleasant as traffic is generally light. Interstate 5 is essentially a straightaway with a speed limit of 65 miles per hour.

WHEN TO LOOK FOR HOUSING

Oregon law requires tenants to give a three-week notice of intention to vacate. The availability of rentals generally increases toward the end of the month. While housing is plentiful in Salem, many other graduate students as well as undergraduate students are looking for rentals at the end of the summer, so you may have to forego moving into your “ideal” apartment or house if you are unable to begin your housing search until August. However, because this is not a stereotypical college town, you should feel confident that you will be able to find a comfortable, affordable place to live before classes begin. Simply allow yourself enough time to seek housing.

TEMPORARY ACCOMMODATIONS

While the University does not provide temporary housing, there are a number of motels and hotels in the area, as well as bed and breakfasts and a Kampground Of America (KOA) campground. You may also contact the Salem Convention and Visitors Association for more information about local accommodations. Their office is located in the Mission Mill Museum and Village, 1313 Mill St. SE, across 12th Street from the University: 503-581-4325, 1-800-874-7012 or www.travelsalem.com

OFF CAMPUS HOUSING

Salem has a varied selection of rental housing, some very close to campus and others within a 15–20 minute drive. You are advised to make your housing arrangements in June or July to avoid a last minute rush.

Most Willamette students choose to rent rather than buy. If you are interested in buying a house, we can provide names of Salem area realtors.

SALEM AREA APARTMENTS

The following is a partial list of rental apartments in the Salem area. We offer this list as a public service to incoming students. While Willamette students have rented many of the apartments below, Willamette University makes no specific recommendation or endorsement of any of the facilities listed.

The list below includes information about cost, distance from campus and other attributes of area apartment complexes. Distances to school are reasonably accurate, as are rents and deposits, but all information is subject to change. Please do some independent investigation to identify the apartment that meets your needs. Apartment owners like to rent to Willamette graduate students, so you may want to mention your connection to Willamette.

Many of these apartments are listed in the apartment search websites such as ForRent.com (www.forrent.com/), RENTNET (www.rentnet.com/), Apartment.com (www.apartments.com/), craigslist (www.craigslist.com/) and Bunting Management (www.buntingmanagement.com/).
