Talent Identification Program

Competitive Scholarships Program at the University of Portland

---

What is T.I.P.?

T.I.P. stands for Talent Identification Program. The goal is to develop a system so faculty members can identify high achieving students early in their careers as potential candidates for Competitive Scholarships. Once identified, the Competitive Scholarships Program will meet and work with these students to identify goals for their upcoming years, identify potential scholarship opportunities, and assist in applying for appropriate awards.

What type of students is T.I.P. looking for?

We are looking for students not only with good grades, but with the desire and ambition to excel.

How do I submit a recommendation?

If you have identified a student that you would like to recommend, please direct that student to the Competitive Scholarships Program. You can submit that student's name to the Competitive Scholarships Director or to the main office assistants in Buckley Center 201 -(503) 943-7760.

Whom do I contact for more information?

Competitive Scholarships Director:

John Orr, Ph.D.
Buckley Center 201B
