

Willamette University Sponsored Programs Cost Matrix

Use this document to understand the typical costs associated with summer, semester and year-long Willamette Sponsored Off-Campus Programs. Please contact the Office of International Education with any questions.

What is a Willamette Sponsored Program?

All the programs listed on this website are Willamette Sponsored Programs. Willamette programs are either facilitated by Willamette University, a third-party provider, a consortium to which Willamette belongs, or in conjunction with other universities in the case of established bilateral exchanges.

Semester and Year-long Program Costs

Willamette Sponsored Programs costs are comparable to on-campus studies. Costs are distributed as follows:

- Tuition: Your WU student account will be billed WU tuition. You may use all of your Willamette, federal, state and local financial aid for WU programs.
- Housing and Meals: See the columns titled "Cost Billed to Your WU Student Account", "Housing" and "Meals" for more information. Students pay the cost of housing and meals to one of the following: a) pay Willamette and then receive housing and meals abroad, b) pay the host university or program directly, or c) a combination (such as pay room to Willamette and pay for meals abroad). (If you do not find your program on this list please contact an advisor at oeadvising@willamette.edu).
- Study Abroad Deposit: This $300 non-refundable deposit is due when you accept your placement to study abroad on a Willamette Sponsored Program, this fee will be applied to your tuition if you attend the program. The Deposit Policy is published on our website: "Accepted to Study Abroad".
- Additional costs are very important to consider! Additional costs may include, but are not limited to:
 - passport
 - airfare (if the program includes excursions that involves airfare, you are responsible for that cost)
 - visa or residency permit costs (when applicable)
 - domestic travel to apply for visa (when applicable)
 - additional health insurance, depending individual program structure and individual student needs
 - travel insurance (optional)
 - local transportation (when applicable)
 - Generally, students spend more money while abroad than during a typical semester at Willamette. These costs are usually associated with extra travel, cost-of-living differences, eating out, entertainment, and purchasing gifts and souvenirs. If you would like more information about specific costs of the items mentioned above and/or the general affordability of study abroad, please contact an advisor in the OIE.
 - See the Willamette University Sponsored Programs Cost Matrix for Special Cost Considerations specific to your program(s).

Summer Program Costs

Summer study abroad program costs are treated differently than semester and year-long programs. Each program has a set program fee based on actual costs associated with the program (this may include items such as tuition, room/board, local transportation, excursions and insurance). The cost for each program is determined each year based on the current rates for services and number of participants in that program. Please see individual program pages on the Summer Programs website for more details on the program costs and what is included in each program fee.  Summer program costs start on last page of cost matrix. **

Health Insurance Information: ALL students must have health insurance that covers them at their off-campus program location. Some programs require specific insurance while others do not. See the column titled "Insurance Information". Students should also visit the health insurance page on the OIE website for tips on assessing coverage needs.

Please see the Office of International Education's website for more details on program types, program descriptions, credit and application information.

DEADLINE: WU Sponsored Program Applications for Summer 2018, Fall 2018 and Spring 2019 are due Tuesday, December 5, 2017 by online submission. Applications submitted after the deadline will not be considered.
