Share Your Best: "It was the best of times" - from Sally Shriver

This Christmas, 2021, was one of the best celebrations with my family and the worst. My whole family was there except for my eldest daughter and eldest grandson as they had COVID and were unable to join us except by Facetime. My son, his wife, and 4 children were in CA from VA, hosted by my daughter and her husband. My former husband and I were also there. I think the first time my son and his wife came for Christmas was when their only child was about 6 months old. Now with 4. It had been too long! We had lots of presents and wonderful food and good stories. I will always remember this Christmas.

Willamette University Update:

Improved online security.

Wayfinding, by Whitney Rowland - Directed by Lava Alapai

A fantastical, poignant comedy about Jane, an emotionally-numbed new widow, and Harrison, an inattentive, self-sabotaging fiancé. In seeking escape, these two strangers collide – both literally and figuratively – tangling their life lines and setting them on a time-bending journey involving an intercontinental plane crash, a magical forest, and a choice that leads them both to an unexpected destination.

On February 12, 2021 City of Salem experienced an unusual ice event which devastated trees around the city.

Following the storm, the City of Salem Public Works Department dispatch office received almost two thousand calls within days of the storm. With debris from the storm creating hazardous situations throughout the city, the city needed a way to collect and distribute key information in order to prioritize and respond to calls efficiently.

The City of Salem GIS department put together this StoryMap of what happened and how the city responded. Check out the story, timeline, and photos, and maps. Some photos and maps are interactive: click on map markers to see photos of that location and get more of the story (StoryMap!); slide arrows on the photos to get more of the picture.

Note the tabs at the top for "Background" "Response & Recovery" "Visualizing the Damage" and "Moving Ahead".

The Brain and Breathing Breaks

Whenever you feel stressed or overwhelmed, it is likely that you are also holding your breath – even slightly. This sends a message to the brain to be on alert. So, taking a deep breath to relax your entire system. Deep breathing slows your heartbeat, stabilizes your blood pressure and lowers your stress alert response. It has also been shown to support immunity because breathing through the nose has been shown to increase the concentration of nitric oxide which helps to reduce the ability of certain viruses to replicate.

To practice breathing on a regular basis, take a moment each day to use the 4-7-8 breathing technique:

Find a comfortable place to sit and close your eyes.

1. Breathe in through your nose to the slow count of four.
2. Hold your breath to the count of seven.
3. Exhale through your mouth to the count of eight.
4. Repeat this four of five times.

(If keeping track is too much, just do each to the slow count of 5.)
