Follow-up: Mark Blackburn “New Discoveries About Ancient Greece” (2/6/2024)

In case you missed this excellent and surprising presentation, or want to watch it again, here is a link to the lecture that Mark showed and some other reference information:

- The whole lecture on Antikythera Mechanism by Dr. Markos Skoulatos (you can turn on subtitles in the settings)
- Wikipedia: Antikythera Mechanism
- BBC: Scientists unlock mysteries of world's oldest 'computer'

Follow-up from 2/8/2024: If you would like to see the film shown last Thursday by Jim Gilbert and Joe Bergman, “An Oregon Story: Saving Our Beaches, Farmland and More”, link to it here. Jim and Joe ask that you share it with friends and family, as well. <https://www.anoregonstory.com/oregon-story-fil>

Communications Update:

- ICL Brochure - to be distributed at senior centers, retirement communities, etc.
- Hanni Scholar Poster - to be displayed on campus to promote ICL’s Hanni Scholar Program (look for a poster on the bulletin board in Kaneko).

ICL Volunteer Opportunity! ICL Historian

We have not had an ICL Historian since 2022. This is not a board position, but does report to the board.

The ICL Historian collects materials that are pertinent to retaining the history of ICL membership and activities and submits those materials to the Willamette University Archivist at the Mark O. Hatfield Library.

This is a fairly easy way to become more involved in ICL operations - and on your own schedule. Contact Executive Director, Joan Robinson, if you are interested. Here is the current job description (subject to review and updates).

The ICL collection records are available online. Records can be viewed by ICL members by visiting the Archives on the second floor of Hatfield Library. Contact archives@willamette.edu (503-370-6764) for an appointment.

Hallie Ford Museum of Art Exhibitions: (free to ICL members with student ID card)

- Willem Volkersz “The View from Here” | Jan. 23 - March 30, 2024
- Singular Visions: Self-Taught Artists from the Permanent Collection | Jan. 2 - April 20, 2024

Dates to remember:

- Curriculum Committee Meeting: Reminder that the CC will not be meeting on their normal day of the 3rd Thursday this month as they met on Feb. 1st. They will return to the normal day in March.
