Willamette Update:

Letter from President Steve Thorsett (excerpt):

After many months of extensive conversations and planning, I am pleased to announce that the merger of the Pacific Northwest College of Art into Willamette University is officially complete.

I am elated to see this union come to fruition and cannot wait to see what the future holds for all of our students, who will see immediate benefits as we further advance our exciting plans for collaborative opportunities and cross-disciplinary programs that will be the trademark of this union as it deepens the connection between art, design and the liberal arts and sciences.

We are proud of the diligent and ongoing work of both the Willamette and PNCA communities, who built upon the respective strengths and legacies of our two institutions to make this a reality.

Edgar Allen POE: Eureka

Throughout the poet's life, he was absolutely fascinated by science. His love of subjects like astronomy and physics—along with the tragedy that followed him throughout his life—informed his poems and essays.

Poe loved to expose scientific hoaxes, while simultaneously perpetrating them himself. And his self-proclaimed magnum opus, a largely unsuccessful venture, was a nonfiction essay about the

Salem Art Association: Welcome Back! Two shows in July! Bush Barn Art Center (600 Mission St. SE, Salem)

SALEM SALON: Better Together
July 1-31, 2021

The Salem Salon is back! After more than a year of not seeing one another, or even worse, not seeing any art, this year's Salem Salon, a non-juried, community art exhibition, is back! The Salon is one of our most popular exhibitions.

Respect Existence or Expect Resistance

July 1 - 31, 2021

Latinos Unidos Siempre (LUS) is partnering with the Salem Art Association to display an exhibition surrounding the empowerment of Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC). LUS has invited community artists who identify as BIPOC to display their artwork about empowerment, which will be displayed in the upstairs gallery. These artists are creating artwork about empowerment through self-love, self-care, community organizing, and more. Youth organizers from LUS will also be making their own personal contributions to the exhibition, including through murals in the Annex. The month-long exhibition will consist of an open house with an artists' panel, an open mic event with live art, and a social justice panel.

As things slowly get back to normal, our hours will be limited so that we can ensure the health and safety of all of our staff and visitors.

To begin, we will be open the following hours in July: Thursday, Friday, and Saturday 12:00 pm - 4:30 pm. We anticipate having these hours from July 1 - July 31 and then slowly increasing hours after that. Please check our website for updates to the schedule.

We ask, of course, that visitors continue to wear masks and maintain social distancing when enjoying the art in our galleries.

Pun Humor:

Planning a cookout this year? Ketchup on the news. According to the Farm Bureau, the cost of a 4th of July BBQ is down from last year. It's a fact you must-hear(d). Hot dog, the economic plan is working. And that's something we can all relish. Corny. But my grill mayo may not have cracked a grin. Seriously, practice safe barbecuing; use condiments.

Tech Tip: Some quick computer tricks. Keyboard short-cuts

You know the basics – how to turn it on, write a document, print it, open the internet, do a simple search, etc. Here are some simple tricks to add to making your computer work easier.

The well-known shortcuts are Control A to highlight all of the text. On a Mac, it is Command A. Then, Control C (or Command C) to copy any highlighted text. Control V (or Command V) will paste that copied text wherever you place your cursor. Control X (or Command X) will cut any highlighted text. The text can still be pasted somewhere else with Control V (Command V on Mac).

On a PC, hold the Control key and backspace or delete button down together and you can delete whole words at once. On a Mac, hold the Command key and backspace or delete key simultaneously to delete whole words at once. If you make a mistake erasing something, you can replace it simply by typing Control and Z at the same time on a PC and Command Z on a Mac.
