

NB: this schedule is highly likely to change as we go. Remember, we are working with 2 platforms – MATRIX and WISE – so check what is due where. Don't forget that all WISE submissions must be in .doc/x or .pdf format and include your name on each page. No name = no credit.

You are responsible for your own learning in many ways. I expect you to review the explanatory answers and identify/learn from your mistakes, as you will be doing that skill in bar review. You should use your BARBRI book outline as a resource and review the examples included there, too.

You're going to have to manage your own time to some extent. I am giving you the dates when certain assignments MUST be completed in order for them to be submitted for grading. I am also giving you estimates of time it will take to complete other assignments and when those are expected to be completed so that you may complete other assignments that MUST be completed. The workload is going to vary, so please be mindful of the calendar. I realize this is a bit confusing, so please ask if you have questions.

Keep your bar binder up to date as you go and watch out for your application deadlines. (MPRE, too.)
