

Blanket Forts are the Best!

Craving adventure and a change of scenery during quarantine? Build a blanket fort! Does the world feel a little scary right now and you need a quiet space to be cozy and secure? Build a blanket fort! Are you feeling unproductive in your routine workspace and are itching for a change? Build a blanket fort! Needing space from your quarantine companions? Build a blanket fort! The point is, blanket forts can allow space for both fun and creativity, as well as space to be quiet and contemplative.

A few tips: Using sheets often makes for more stable walls as they are lighter and less prone to collapse. Adding some twinkle lights can really elevate the experience. Make sure to save your fluffiest blanket for the inside of your fort to maximize coziness! Additionally, if you are experiencing lovely warm weather, and have yard space, consider using old sheets or towels and making a fort outside! Harken back to childhood and be creative!
